

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

METHOD AND APPARATUS FOR REMOVING CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION FROM A HISTORY

A method and apparatus for removing information in a data processing system. A selection of information for removal is received from a history generated by a browser, wherein the selection is received prior to a browser session. In response to a termination of the browser session, the information is automatically removed from the history using the selection without requiring a user input.

[illegible]